FROM THE PRESIDENT'S DESK

PRESIDENT
KHIN CHEW

Dear Members;

Time flies by fast. Before we realize it, the Committee group for year 2004 – 2005 is nearing the end of their term. The Annual General Meeting this year is planned to be held on October 8th, Saturday. The plan this year is to have the AGM held in a restaurant with buffet style dinner. Details of the AGM and the buffet dinner will be announced in the September newsletter. It is time again to look for candidates to run for the position of the President, the three Vice Presidents, Treasurer, Secretary, and Committee Members. Please do not hesitate to forward to us the names of your choice of candidates for any of the above positions. You may either call or e-mail to the Secretary - Jesse Cheah.

This year's AGM will also see the approval of the new MSBCA-Calgary By-Laws that has been reviewed and revised by the By-Laws committee – Ken Preston and Kim Roe, and preliminary approval by the Committee Members.

Despite incurring quite a few additional expenses due to increase of participation in various activities in charity such as Mustard Seed, supporting other associations, and donations to Red Cross and the Cancer Foundation, MSBCA-Calgary has once again re-gained its financial strength - thanks to all the time and efforts put in by the members who participated in Bingo and Casino volunteering, and all other volunteers who, although did not participate directly in Bingo and Casino, contributed in other areas to get things moving in the association. It is the Team Work spirit that makes MSBCA-Calgary one of the more successful associations around, and has attracted lots of attention and admiration from other associations and organizations. Keep up the good work, members.

I am sure many of our members must have noticed that several changes have been implemented this year. Some of these changes may have incurred additional costs to the association, but I consider them as money well spent. One of the major expense is on a computer that will result in centralization of all information related to MSBCA on an external hard disk that will be locked away. For this purpose, a lap top has been purchased, which will also be used for presentation (together with a projector) and karaoke. Chee Leong, one of our dedicated volunteers, has been working hard behind the scene to make karaoke singing from a computer a reality. Chee Leong is also our main source of support for keeping the computer going flawlessly. Another major change is the installation of laminated floor in the clubhouse, which is going to happen in the coming weeks. Other changes include opening up of the clubhouse to members to run their own little Sunday Lunches at a minimal fee to the association, and a free picnic to all members this year on September 3rd Saturday, and starting of a Martial Arts Class for both our kids and adults at no cost to participating members. All these are a result of the healthy financial status that MSBCA is currently in, the committee feel it is time to provide more benefits to the members.

Khin Chew

On Mexico City and Teotihuacán

By: Rachel Wong

When I first planned my trip to Mexico, I originally intended to spend my entire two week vacation relaxing at Club Med Ixtapa's all-inclusive resort. What could be better than two weeks of completely stress-free pampering? I thought.

Instead, seven days into my beach vacation, I found myself on a nine and a half hour bus ride headed to Mexico City where my friend and I had only a vague idea of what we wanted to see. Our first destination would be to Teotihuacán, which is the Mexican pyramid substitute to our Banff mountain range.

However, we first had to figure out how to get there.

Our overnight bus left us at the south bus terminal (Mexico City has four bus terminals which are connected to the metro system – which hosts SEVEN lines!), where attempting to navigate the insanely crowded metro station at 5AM with a large suitcase, two large backpacks and two bags between two people isn't a very smart idea. We somehow missed the north bus terminal metro station and ended up two stops away wandering the streets for a good thirty minutes before giving up and taking a taxi to the bus terminal.

Teotihuacán (translation: "where men become gods") was first built around the time of Christ and precedes both the Mayan and Aztec civilizations. At its height (somewhere between the second and fourth centuries A.D.), it was the largest and most populated urban centre in the New World, and is estimated to have had nearly 200,000 inhabitants.

The ruins sit about an hour drive away from Mexico City and are a popular tourist and educational archaeological site. The Avenue of the Dead is the main roadway in the city and runs in a south-north direction for nearly two miles before ending at the base of the Pyramid of the Moon. It was named by the later Aztec civilization who believed that the road was the burial ground of Teotihuacán's rulers, however, no burial sites have been found at any of the excavations around the road.

To the east lies the Pyramid of the Sun which is the largest pre-Hispanic building of its time (first century A.D) and is considered the third largest pyramid in the world. It now measures roughly 225m on each side and is about 63m high after having been reconstructed in the early 20th century.

Hiking up either of these two pyramids is definitely a chore as the pyramids were not built to be climbed but were built as temples for ceremonial rituals.

Mexico City story continued.

The steps are very narrow and very high and as one tour guide pointed out, were only manageable if walking diagonally. The view from the top however is definitely worth the 248 step hike up the Pyramid of the Sun and roughly 130 steps up the Pyramid of the Moon. Coming down however is another story, as the elevation and height prevents rushing down the steps, and one has to climb down sideways like a child.

It was two completely different sides of Mexico – the resort/commercialized side and the historical side. That combined with the hot and humid weather made Mexico a trip to remember and a definite vacation spot for the next time.

That said... I have never been so happy to see my car, and use a cellphone and talk to people who understand me when I say I need to use the bathroom! There's no place like home!

MSBCA would like to thank...

The following for helping out on the Mustard Seed Lunch on July 30. It was an overwhelming success!!! Thanks...

Sunday Lunch Opportunity

Dear Members,

It was carried forward by the committee to give our members an opportunity to make some 'fun money' by allowing them to use our clubhouse kitchen & facilities to prepare Sunday lunches. Our current proposal(subject to change in future) are as follows:

1. No rental fees shall be imposed
2. MSBCA will help advertise in newsletter & website but would require at least 1 month notice about date, menu & cost
3. Permission is given to use MSBCA utensils & cutleries
4. Disposables cutleries, plates & take-out containers shall be at user's expense
5. Cleaning, preparing, collecting money, serving shall be user's responsibilities.
6. User's non-member friends or strangers are welcomed to come & patronize
7. User's cost shall be a flat fee of $20. If food expenses is a net loss no charge shall be imposed.

We always believe this clubhouse is for all interest groups to enjoy therefore we hope this opportunity will allow some members to have fun preparing the food and others to enjoy eating & socializing in the clubhouse.

Yours truly
The Committee

“Listen To The Whispers”

An educational program about ovarian cancer. It invades the body almost unnoticed. About 6 out of 10 women diagnosed do not survive. It's ovarian cancer the disease that whispers.

Why is this program so important?

Each year 2,500 women are diagnosed with ovarian cancer in Canada. With no early detection test, most women are unfortunately diagnosed in the later stages of the disease. The good news is that when it is diagnosed in the earliest stages, the long-term survival rate is about 90%.

Education and awareness are the best tools we have for improving survival.

It's your life. Please attend this session to find out more. Men are welcomed. There will be a 20-25 min video presentation, oral presentation, questions and answers session.

Trip to the Oregon Coast July 2005

By Jesse Cheah

Some of you can relate to my journal but for others I hope I can encourage you to make a trip to the Oregon Coast. This is a summary of my road trip from Vancouver-Portland-Tillamook-Newport from Jul 19 Tuesday to Jul 21 Thursday.

1st criteria: you must love driving. The Interstate 5 is like Deerfoot but wider and with more cars. Americans road courtesy is very admirable. One or 2 drivers are a bit crazy but understandably he looked like Puah Chu Kang. After US immigration in Blaine, Washington it is about a 5 hour drive to Portland. Because this trip wasn't planned in advance I took things calm & easy with no reservation. With 4 adults & 3 kids I thought I was a bit crazy but trick is to arrive at your destination by 5pm and if you're a poker player you believe in luck. We stayed at the Days Inn in downtown and started exploring on foot. The waterfront walk in the evening overlooking the majestic Portland Convention Centre & looking at the sunset was very memorable. The next day it was off to The Grotto-The National Sanctuary of Our Sorrowful Mother claimed to be one of the most beautiful Marian sanctuaries in the world. People of all religion are welcomed to visit this peaceful place of natural scenic beauty & charm. Picture enclosed is the natural rock altar showing the white marble replica of Michelangelo's famed masterpiece, the Pieta. I strongly recommend everyone to visit this place when you're in Portland.

Next it was off to Tillamook to taste the cheese & wine and naturally I was driving faster each time I get closer to the sanctuary of Cows. Can't resist so had to buy a couple of bottles of Blue Heron wine and black peppered cheese. Call me & I'll be glad to let you taste the cheese before they expire.

Before the 2nd day ends the scenery went from driving on a highway with a canopy of tree branches above your car to the awesome view of the Pacific coastline along highway 101. The drive from Lincoln City to Newport is something I would gladly do again where you see the beautiful rocky Pacific coastline. Newport reminds me of Melaka where you think you've seen it all until you take a drive down the hill to the fishing village and you're submerged in a different world. Kids went gaga over the sea waves the next day. Although the water was cold the sand was as fine as quick sand.

Sad the trip was short but it proved to me you don't need a lot of time to see truly awesome places & spend quality fun time in a totally foreign place. On the way back we could not help stopping at the Seattle Premier Mall-home of many outlet stores but for me the beauty of Mt. St Helen & Mt. Rainer in the distance was more unforgettable.
